TRUCKS DESTROYED IN FIRE

The loading station at Pembina Pipe Lines plant on the Buck Creek side of the river was the scene of a huge conflagration Wednesday afternoon, November 5, when three large semi-trailers and a half-ton pickup were burned. Apparently a hose on one of the tank semi-trailers, which was unloading natural gasoline from the Goliad plant for transshipment by pipe line from Pembina Pipe Line plant, broke and the liquid sprayed onto the motor of one of the trucks setting it on fire. Before it could be brought under control the fire had spread to two other semi-trucks and the half-ton which was standing nearby. All were completely demolished.

The truck are owned by Trimble Trucking Co. who are hauling some of the by-products of the Goliad plant for transshipping until pipe lines are installed between the two plants.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE.

As they did last year also, Drayton Valley's Canadian Legion members will parade on the morning of Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11.

The group will line up at McFarland Lumber Yard office and will then parade to the Community Hall where a non-denominational service of Memorial will be conducted. The general public is invited to attend the service.

The hospitality of the local Legion Branch will be extended to all veterans for one hour following the service.

From 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. a Buffet Dinner will be served at the Community Hall, open to veterans and one guest.

A Public Dance will follow, starting at 9:00 p.m.

The dedication service to be held at the bridge will be commenced at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the length of the ceremony conducted at the bridge will depend largely on the weather. If the weather held good it will last about 45 minutes, but if the weather is cold it will be of shorter duration.

KEN MASON'S COLUMN:

The Alberta Liberal party got itself a new leader last week and an all-out battle to wrest power away from Social Credit in the next provincial election.

The new chief, elected at the climax of the party's leadership convention here in the capital, is J. W. Grant MacEwan, 56-year-old Calgary MIA, author, agriculturist, and former university professor.

He won a three-way race with Richard Hall, 51, MIA for Athabasca, and Ralph Walker, 54, Raymond district rancher and oilman. Hall, a man with loads of ability who isn't too well known outside northern Alberta, dropped out on the first ballot. On the second, MacEwan polled 314 votes to Walker's 200.

There was little excitement at the convention, apart from the leadership election campaign which was complete with marching bands, singing commercials and boisterous parades by placard-carrying delegates supporting their candidates.

The convention adopted a party platform made up for the most part of policy statements which had been announced earlier, and which some observers found a little "too general" in their approach to provincial problems.

Greatest excitement on the first day of the convention was a behind-the-scenes campaign to draft Edmonton's Mayor William Hawrelak for the leadership. Six different delegations called on him, and one of them claimed to have 265 first-ballot votes pledged for him if he would run. But Hawrelak stood by his earlier decision and refused to enter the race.

Claims made by Hawrelak supporters would seem to indicate he is the man the party really wanted, but there are some who say this isn't so. Had Hawrelak accepted the challenge, they say, a strong opposition movement would have developed. If Hawrelak had taken the leadership, they add, his effectiveness would be badly reduced by internal squabbles within the party.

MacEwan, likeable, lanky and six-foot-three, is a choice that should keep everyone happy. He is personable, has a fine platform presence, and gets along with his fellow politicians.

Whether Grant is the man who can lead the Liberals to power after a 37-year absence is a question that won't be answered until Albertans go to the polls, probably next summer.

But throughout the convention, speakers stressed this point: Albertans are growing tired with the Manning administration and they feel it's time for a change. The only possible change, they said, is to a Liberal government.

It became clear at the convention that the major issue in the next election will be the government's five-year development program, announced earlier in the fall. Liberals will be busy pointing out that most features of the Social Credit plan have been advocated for years by the Liberals, and have been repeatedly turned down by the government.

The convention got a lift with the arrival of Hon. Lester B. Pearson, the national leader, who gave a fighting speech just before the balloting for leader. He warned that anti-dumping legislation of the Conservative government in Ottawa could harm the country's (Cont'd next column) economy if it is implemented in a way the U.S. thinks is unfair.

Western farmers would be hardest hit, he said, because U.S. retaliatory action would be aimed at Canadian cattle. Exports of cattle to the U.S. are all that's keeping farmers out of the red today, he said.

J. Harper Frouse, whose resignation from the provincial Liberal leadership last spring made the convention necessary, announced that he won't be seeking re-election to the Edmonton Legislature seat he's held since 1945.

Frouse told the convention he is "going into drydock for awhile to have the barnacles scraped off." Privately, he says he isn't through with politics and after a few years of building up his law practice he'll probably be back. Word has it he's interested in the federal field.

There were 896 voting delegates at the leadership convention, 91 alternates and 137 guest. But ballots cast for the leadership totalled only a little over 500, which means nearly 400 delegates didn't vote.

CHAMPION FERGUSON, Trochu, Alta., lawyer and Rhodes scholar, was elected president of the Liberal Association of Alberta. He succeeds John Deane, Edmonton lawyer, Young Ferguson won out over Douglas McKee, of Sangudo; Mrs. Irene Smith, of Camrose, and Bruce Whittaker, Edmonton.

MUNICIPALITIES BEST — The Union of Alberta Municipalities also made news last week, with its 54th annual convention held in Edmonton.

The expected discussion of a provincial industrial tax didn't materialize, but municipal affairs minister Alf Hooke told delegates the province wants to set up a permanent advisory board on provincial-municipal relations.

Mr. Hooke said he would like the board to give "immediate" attention to the problem of taxation. Taxes in Alberta are 50 per cent higher than those in Ontario, he said, and added he'd like to see "more equality in taxation throughout the province. He said the government might conceivably take over assessment, collection and distribution from the municipalities.

The Union Of Municipalities and the Association of Municipal Districts will each have two representatives on the advisory board, and there will be two representatives of the provincial cabinet. Mr. Hooke said the board might want to hire an expert on municipal affairs, and the government would be "happy to comply".

NORMAN DOUGLAS, 12, WITH NEW "HEART MACHINE"

ROCKY RAPIDS BOY FIRST PATIENT FOR NEW HEART SURGERY UNIT.

Twelve year old Norman Douglas, the son of Mr and Mrs Clarence Douglas, of Rocky Rapids recently became the first patient to get the use of a new heart-lung pump unit which permits unusual types of heart surgery.

The use of the heart-lung pump unit on the young patient came less than two years after it was first announced that the heart-lung pump had been developed to successful use; the University of Alberta Hospital put the new cardio-vascular surgical unit into successful operation on young Douglas.

Specially designed to permit a greater flow, one of the new units will permit heart operations which would have been impossible with former pumps.

Norman had developed an obstruction in the pulmonary valve, which caused the pressure to rise four or five times above normal.

While the heart-lung pump took over the operations of young Douglas's heart and lungs for twenty minutes surgeons opened the heart and removed the obstruction.

Among the advantages of the new pumps is the new system of restoring the blood's oxygen content, accomplished in the former instrument by bubbling the blood.

In the new machine, the blood passes in a thin film over rotating discs in an atmosphere of oxygen. This feature leads to lessened danger of damaging the blood. In the previous machine the operators had to be sure that after the (next column) blood was bubbled, all the bubbles were removed.

Also removing the possibility of injuring the blood is the use of gravity in passing the blood from the patient's veins to the heart-lung pump. Previously this was done by a sucking system.

Medical officials explain that when pumping the blood outside the body, the red cells and clotting mechanism can be damaged. These possibilities are reduced with the new machines.

One of the machines will flow twice as much blood as the previous model, bringing it up to the level of a normal heart.

This permits operations on Mitral and aortic valves which could not be done previously. It will also allow the surgeon more time to perform the operations because the blood can be bypassed through the machine for longer periods.

In one case, the machine functioned for the patient's heart and lungs for an hour and 10 minutes. Bypasses of 45 to 50 minutes were considered long on the previous machine.

Officials say that the new machine puts Alberta in the forefront on the continent and about twenty-five medical schools are following the University Hospital's lead.

Mrs Otto Ganske is a patient in the Misericordia Hospital. At present she is having tests. Surgery may be necessary.

Mrs William Mustard and Mrs Bigam, of Hinton, are visiting Mrs Mustard's daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs Tom Ross, this week.

Mrs Mustard took a very active part in the organization of the town in the early days of the oil boom.

She was the first president of the United Church W.A. She is charter member of the W.I. and was its first delegate to the provincial convention. She was a charter member of the Drayton Valley Board of Trade, and she often came to aid of the over worked teachers of that time by substituting. Welcome back, Mrs Mustard. We hope you have a fine visit.

When Margaret Jean Neil was born to Mr and Mrs Douglas Neil on October 23 several Drayton Valley people gained new titles. Doug and Margaret are Mamma and Dad; Mr and Mrs John MacKenzie are Grandpa and Grandma; Kenneth and John are Uncle; Isobel and Barbara are Aunt; and Mrs Schuman, Mrs Law and Miss Margaret MacKenzie become Great Aunt.

Mr and Mrs Aaron Bennett visited with the Wollschlaegers, Madsens and many other friends in Drayton Valley over the weekend.

Mr and Mrs Bennett came to Alberta from Oklahoma in 1915. In 1917 they moved to Drayton Valley.

For many years they farmed land which now belongs to Alfred Madsen, Robert Johnson and H. G. Deby. Mr Bennett also built the house-charge known for years as "Miss Wolters" house.

In 1944 the Bennetts went to live in Edmonton where Mr Bennett built and sold houses. This winter they plan to spend in Creston and Penticton but they assure us they will be back to Edmonton in the Spring.

Mr and Mrs Howard Ganske's baby son has been given the name of Roger. He was born at High Prairie on October 7. At present the Howard Ganske family is visiting the Otto Ganske family at Pembina.

A full slate of officers was elected to the annual meeting of the Violet Grove Farm Union. They are: President: Roman Vovk; vice-president, Harvey Ottman; secretary-treasurer, Leslie Herndon. Directors are: Ole Skordalslev, Freeman Hill, Ed Hines, Elmer Lawrence, and William Wollschlaeger. Canvassers: Harvey Ottman, William Ewanick, Ed Hines, Otto Ganske, R. Vovk, and Les. Herndon. Meetings will be held in the Dunnington Community Hall on the first Monday of each month beginning at 8 p.m.

Chester Miller retired from the post-office on Tuesday, after eight years of service. Chester became post master in August 1950, taking over after the retirement of Mr Jack Luckes. In December 1955 the post office was moved to the new building which it now occupies. Late in 1956 Chester became chief clerk and held that post until his retirement.

Mr and Mrs Bright entertained the post office staff at a buffet supper in Mr Miller's honour on Saturday evening. The post office staff presented Mr Miller with a leather working kit as a farewell gift.

CRISIS HOUR.

This article in the Religious series is written by Rev. Albion Wright of Drayton Valley United Church.

"A small vessel was nearing the Steep Hommes, in Bristol Channel. The captain stood on the deck, his watch in his hand, his eyes fixed on it. A terrible tempest had driven them on ward. No one dared to ask, 'Is there any hope?' Every moment they were hurried nearer to the sullen rock which knew no mercy, and on which many an ill-fated vessel had foundered. Still the captain stood motionless, speechless, his watch in his hand. 'We are lost' was the conviction of many around him. Suddenly his eyes glanced across the sea; he stood erect; another moment and he cried, 'Thank God! we are saved!' the tide had turned; in one minute more we should have been on the rocks."

There are many people today who would cry out, "We are lost". As we approach once more the eleventh of November we regret the condition that the world is in. Yet if we are to keep faith with those whom we honor, our war dead, we have no right to be defeatists.

Those things which are most worthwhile are not east to attain; the world today seems far from peace and yet like the boat in the channel we may be approaching the moment when the tide will turn. Each of us should be prepared at all times to accept the task that God has for us in establishing a peaceful order among mankind. Peace must begin with the individual. From the individual it will spread to the community, the nation and eventually the world. Let us pray that the day is not far off when we as individuals and as nations may cry out: "Thank God! we are saved—the tide has turned!"

ANGELICAN FELLOWSHIP DINNER.

Members of the Anglican Church in Drayton Valley gathered in Community Hall on Wednesday evening for a Fellowship Dinner. The dinner is an annual affair with the Anglican group.

After a very good meal prepared by young ladies in the church, the group greatly enjoyed a magic show put on by amateur magicians Bob Lang, of Edmonton, assisted by Winston Johnston. Part of the show put on included an escape from a straight-jacket and ropes. Mr Lang will be back in Drayton Valley on Saturday night for the Amateur Night program, when he will perform other feats of magic in the after-show.

Mr Lang is a partner in Joel's Locksmith Shop in Edmonton, he is a safe and vault technician.

Archdeacon T.W. Teape was the after dinner speaker for the occasion. Archdeacon Teape spoke briefly on the decisions of the Lambeth Conference recently held in England.

BRIDGE DEDICATION

The unusually mild spell of weather that we have been experiencing held good for the scheduled dedication of the bridge, which was carried out at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Wednesday, November 12.

The structure was a little over a year in the construction stage, starting late in 1956 and being put into operation late in the year of 1957, with final surfacing being completed early in the summer of 1958.

A group of over 200 persons from both sides of the river was on hand to watch the official dedication of the bridge, declaring it officially open, although the bridge itself has been in use for a year.

Highway #57 from Alaska Corner to the bridge is now finished with gravel coat and is a very good road. It is expected that the rest of the highway, connecting Calmar and Drayton Valley, and, of course, connecting Drayton Valley with 1/2 Highway, will be finished during next year.

Those who took part in the dedication ceremonies at the bridge represented the Highways Department, two federal ridings, three provincial constituencies, Municipalities, the Town of Drayton Valley and the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Very capably filling the office of Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Floyd Modin, Postmaster of Calmar. Mr. Modin also represented the Town of Calmar, as he is a member of the Council. The invocation was given by Rev. J.A. Wingblade, M.L.A. for Watakiwin Constituency. A few words were given by Mr. E.E. Ansley, M.L.A. for Leduc Constituency, by Mr. H.E. McLaughlin, M.L.A. Stony Plain Constituency, and Mr. A.E. Ziemer, Reeve for Leduc Municipality. Mr. Ziemer mentioned the fact that he had once had a sawmill cutting lumber just east of the river, close to the present bridge site. He told of the difficult roads and trails into the country at that time, and said that perhaps none of those who worked in the bush there at that time could have visualized the fine modern bridge spanning the Saskatchewan, and the splendid road leading to it.

Next on the list was the Reeve from Stony Plain Municipality, Mr. J.M. Evjen, who was unfortunately unable to be present, so his place was filled by Mr. Anders of Stony Plain Municipality.

Dr. Hugh Horner, M.P. for Jasper-Edson and Mr. James Speakman, M.P. for Watakiwin also were introduced and spoke briefly. Mr. A. Meier, in his capacity as Mayor of Drayton Valley, gave a brief address of welcome, followed by Mr. H.O. Williamson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, for Drayton Valley.

Mr. L.H. McManus, Chief Bridge Engineer, spoke briefly, followed by the main speaker for the dedication, Honorable Gordon Taylor, as Minister of Highways.

In his dedicatory address Mr. Taylor paid tribute to the efforts of the pioneers who had been ready to forgo the comforts of an established pattern of life and to go out into the pioneer areas. Mr. Taylor also mentioned that the bridge had been designed by men who had been trained in the University of Alberta, whereas in years past it had been necessary to call in engineers from outside Alberta to draw up bridge and similar designs.

At the close of his address Mr. Taylor asked that all men and women present who had been in the area for from twenty-five to forty years would stand with him during the official ribbon-cutting ceremony. Among those men and women who gathered with Mr. Taylor was a retired farmer, Mr. Richard Payne, of Lindale, who has been in the district for forty four years. Mr. Payne said he had come into the district in 1914, before there was a fence post anywhere in the vicinity.

Canadian Coachways ran a special bus out from Edmonton to pick up those who wished to come from Calmar, Warburg and other places along the proposed route from Edmonton to Drayton Valley. The bus also took a short sight-seeing tour of the district on both sides of the bridge.

At seven o'clock in the evening Chamber of Commerce members and their sponsored guests sat down to a very good banquet in the Carium Room. Seated at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, with Mr. Williamson acting as M.C. for the occasion, Mr. Taylor, Mayor and Mrs. Adrian Meier, Mr. and Mrs. Speakman, Dr. and Mrs. Horner, Mr. Ansley, Mrs. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLaughlin. Grace was said by Mr. Wingblade.

In his keynote address Mr. Taylor outlined the very good construction which had gone into the building of the new highway east of the bridge, starting with the sub-grade and continuing with its modern width of forty-two feet, allowing for two ten-foot lanes and nine foot shoulders on each side.
